

Arena Dance Planned...

Community Park Festival In Malton June 5

Saturday, June 5 will be a day to meet your neighbors and to learn more about your community.

That's the day for the first annual Malton Festival, an afternoon of outdoor programmes in Wildwood Park, organized by Malton Community Services and the Parents Participation Committee.

Every aspect of our community from the field of sports, recreation, clubs and organizations, and even the multi-cultural element in Malton's population make-up, will be featured this day. Also, an evening dance in Malton Arena is being planned, but, so far, this event is still tentative.

So, from 1 to 5 p.m. this day, there'll be exhibition games in the park by Malton Minor Softball, Malton Minor Soccer, Malton Tennis Club, and Malton Mushball; there'll be a bake sale and square dance courtesy of the senior citizens; there'll be displays by Peel Regional Police, Mississauga Model Flying Club, and Malton Craft Guild; there'll be a refreshment and hot dog stand operated by the Malton Jaycees; and a bike rodeo is being planned by Malton Legion Branch 528.

The ethnic portion of the program will feature an exhibition of cultural dances on an outdoor stage, with demonstrations by the East Indians, Ceylonese and Irish affirmed so far, and it's hoped that more groups will come forward before June.

In the event of rain, God forbid, an alternate afternoon program is being planned indoors at Malton Arena.

MCS is a 20-week, $9,000 federal Local Initiatives Program, co-ordinated by Mrs. Emma Fasan, Mrs. Edda Brunetta, and Nick Trusolino. These LIP workers, in association with the PPC, helped to stage a very successful community dance in March. Now, they plan a similar venture, designed to appeal to the various ethnic identities in Malton, for the Festival evening at Malton Arena.

A letter has been written to the Mississauga City Council asking for the use of the arena, rent free.

In summing up their idea for the festival a LIP spokesman told The Pilot: "This is an effort to establish an annual festival for Malton, which could serve to pull the various community segments closer together."

"We also believe that the festival will light the flame of community spirit and would help develop a cross-cultural identity amongst the people of Malton. In this light, we're asking all the people of Malton for their endorsement and support of our effort."

There's still plenty of time to get involved with the Festival. If you have a sports league, a club or organization, or an activity of interest and you wish to participate on June 5, just drop in to the MCS meeting on Tuesday, May 4 at the MCS office, Lower Level Westwood Mall (next door to The Pilot office), starting at 7:30 p.m.; or phone anytime, 677-3409.

Have You Heard That...

Etobicoke's Support Sought For Easterly Move Of 427

Etobicoke has been asked to support a bid by Mississauga to have the alignment of Hwy. 427 moved as far east from Malton as possible.

The Mississauga-Etobicoke Liaison Committee, whose co-chairman is Malton Councillor Frank McKechnie, passed the following recommendation at a recent meeting.

"That the Liaison Committee recognizes the concern of the City of Mississauga as to the effect of proposed Hwy. 427 right-of-way on both existing and future residential developments north of Rexdale Blvd., therefore be it resolved that the Borough of Etobicoke be asked to consider endorsing the request of Mississauga to the Ministry of Transportation and Communications that the alignment of Hwy. 427 in this area be moved easterly."

As plans now stand, present day Indian Line would become the western boundary of the proposed four-lane freeway as it swings past Malton. Mississauga wants the Highway's right-of-way relocated some 600 to 800 ft. easterly, placing it far into Etobicoke.

Should the Borough accept the committee's recommendation it would have to alter its processing of the Riverwood subdivision, proposed for an area bounded by proposed Hwy. 427 (Indian Line), Rexdale Blvd., Hwy. 27 and Finch Ave. W.

It appears that Mississauga will require all the support it can muster with regards to Hwy. 427, as indications are that the Ministry of Transportation and Communications will not move the road or re-align this section of 427.

Committee members are: from the City of Mississauga, Councillor McKechnie, acting co-chairman, and Councillor R.A. Searle; Staff, W.P. Taylor, City Engineer; A. Adamson, director of Development Control, planning department; T.J. Ward, Traffic and Transportation Planning Engineer; L. McGillivray, deputy clerk.

From the Borough of Etobicoke, Mayor C.D. Flynn, chairman; Aldermen R.A. Grier, R.M. O'Brien, D.C. Kerr, L.E. Griffin and A.J. McNeil; Controller, G.B. Sinclair; Staff, R.F. Cloutier, Borough clerk; R.S. Gillespie, deputy clerk; W.M. Swann, Borough Engineer; and H. Rimmon, Commissioner of Planning.

Applewood Reunion

Applewood Heights Secondary School is celebrating its tenth anniversary this year with a school reunion on Saturday, May 29.

All former Applewood students are asked to contact the school for further information, phone 279-6090.

Applewood, located at 945 Bloor St. E., in Mississauga, was opened on September, 1966. Since there was no high school in Malton in those days, many local students helped to open the new school.

Mushball

The Malton Mushball League has reached its target for the summer of 1976.

Six teams, with 16 players each, will be fielded this season. The teams are: Ron's Welding ("Stingers"); Burlington Carpet Mills Ltd. ("Rug Rats"); Benick Painting ("Rollers"); State Farm Insurance ("Bandits"); West York Chev-Olds ("Straight Shooters"); Bates Plumbing ("Plungers").

The teams held a draft recently to determine team rosters, a complete line of which appears on Pg. 7 in today's edition.

Malton resident Dave Robinson was the recipient of a Certificate of Recognition from the City of Mississauga at Monday night's Council meeting. Here, Mayer Martin Dobkin presents the award to Mr. Robinson, honoring him for his contribution as a Liaison between the City and Malton during the absence of Malton Councillor Frank McKechnie last year. The Ward 5 councillor suffered a heart attack in October and convalesced at home for three months. The Certificate also recognized Mr. Robinson's work as chairman of the Mississauga Condominium Development Committee.

Culham Has The Traffic Answer?

Mayorality candidate David Culham thinks he has the answer to Malton's traffic woes.

The Ward 6 Councillor told The Pilot this week that a traffic experiment in his home neighborhood of Erindale Woodlands would soon be evaluated and could apply to Malton.

As Malton has Brampton and area traffic passing through each weekday morning bound for Metro, Mr. Culham explained: "We had through traffic from Erin Mills coming through Erindale Woodlands on their way to Square One and other activities on Burnhamthorpe.

"The basic approach was to place advance lights in the major arterial roads to encourage smooth flowing traffic and to place stop signs in the internal neighborhood networks to keep the through traffic out. It has worked well and with a few modifications will probably remain. The traffic that penetrated the neighborhoods because of congestions in the major arterial roads found that they lost far too much time. Truck traffic was completely eliminated within a few days.

"In my view, this approach could work in Malton to lessen the problems until the work is implemented on the Four Corners. Frank McKechnie has watched the Erindale approach in the hopes it would be transplanted elsewhere. Transplanting is possible now.

"Originally it was difficult to get traffic engineers to look at the approach. Usually they are of the opinion that all traffic must flow and other factors are secondary. In the Erindale Woodlands approach the character of the neighborhood as a place to live is paramount."

Inquiring Reporter Asks: "What About Raising The Drinking Age?"

By Sherrie Flaherty
Photograph by Susan Mayberry

The legal drinking age may be raised to 19. Terry Jones, Mississauga MPP explains why it is being decided to raise the age only one more year. He says most kids in high are 18 and since drinking is usually a group activity, if the age is boosted up to 19, legal drinking will be stopped in high schools. Mr. Jones feels that raising the age would not encourage young persons to use other drugs. The majority of Maltonians seem to disagree with Mr. Jones and say that raising the age will not stop kids from drinking. Well, let's hear it from them.

Marie Groen, 51, 7348 Sills Rd., housewife, says, "I don't think it makes any difference at all — 18, 19, 20! If they want to drink they will!" Mrs. Groen's husband was on hand to offer his opinion and tells The Pilot that in the old country (Holland) there is no age limit and there are no drunks. "It's the same as seatbelts, it shouldn't be allowed." "The government is taking the upper hand, we came here to be free."

Barry Wright, 43, 7352 Sills Rd., Millright, says, "I agree, but it should go back up to 21." Mr. Wright says, "Today's youth can't handle the responsibility of drinking." He feels if a kid is old enough to put on a uniform, then he is old enough to drink. He tells The Pilot, "They have no responsibility!"

Elaine Powell, 30, 7110 Darcel Ave., Bank Clerk, is not sure but feels "it's no worse than them taking drugs." She says there seems to be a problem, too many kids in bars but if they are going to drink, they will drink, within the law or outside it. Mrs. Powell feels parents should have more control and kids should drink in the home. She tells us, they should have left it at 21 and they will get phony I.D., anyway.

Frank Foley, 19, 7141

Barry Wright

Darcel Ave., Engineer, says, he doesn't care! He agrees there is a problem but raising the drinking age he says, will not solve it. Foley says, "I drank more when I was under 18!"

Ray McKnight

Raymond McKnight, 16, 11 Sledman St., Shipper and Receiver, agrees they should raise the age because "all these young teenagers are drinking and causing trouble."

Malton Library Report...

May is Animal Month for children at Malton Library. A very exciting programme has been arranged.

The first Saturday, May 1, there are 2 films: "Lion" and "Family chooses a pet". Later programmes include a talk by a veterinarian and a visit by a lion cub from Rockton Lion Safari. These 2 programmes are restricted to children over 7 years old. There can be no exceptions to this rule. All programmes start at 10:30 a.m.

"In search of Ancient Astronauts" is a film based on Von Daniken's controversial theories of where man came from. If you've missed previous showings of this film come to the library on Tuesday, May 4th, at 7:00 p.m. Other films with a similar theme will be shown on later Tuesdays in May.

On May 6th, Parents can see a film about how children cope with going to school for the first time, while children will listen to stories. Pre-school story time is often a child's first group experience, where he has to socialize with his peers. Many pre-schoolers count this as going to school. Even so, more preparation is usually needed for the real event.

We are located in the lower level of the Westwood Mall. Hours: Tues.-Fri. 12:00-8:30 p.m. Saturdays 10:00-5:00 p.m.

Correction

Last week in the Pilot it was reported in the Block Parent write-up, that the hall for the meeting was donated by the Darcel Senior Public School. There seems to have been some confusion. The hall for the Block Parents meeting, held on April 12, was donated by the Malton Community School.

McDonald's & Heroism Go Together For Three Malton Girls

McDonald's Restaurant isn't normally a setting for heroism but it proved to be on Good Friday in Malton. The alertness of three Malton girls probably saved the life of an elderly lady who suffered a heart attack in a car while her husband was inside McDonald's ordering lunch.

Fortunately for this lady, Maureen McKenna, 19, of Justine Dr., had a craving that afternoon for a hamburger and coaxed her friend Valerie Cheaney, 17, of 7233 Reindeer Dr., and her sister Vicki Cheaney, 15, to drop by McDonald's.

While Maureen went inside to order Valerie and Vicki remained outside in Valerie's car. Suddenly an elderly couple pulled in beside them and the driver got out of the car and entered the restaurant.

At first glance Valerie thought the lady was having a bad headache as she methodically massaged her forehead, but then she realized that the woman obviously was having problems breathing amidst the heat and humidity of the day (temperatures were in the high 20s Celsius).

Valerie told The Pilot she was hesitant about what to do for a moment but then the distressed lady suddenly tapped a warning on the car window.

Valerie jumped out and went to the woman's aid. When she asked if there was anything wrong, the lady nodded and without a second to lose Valerie raced inside McDonald's for the woman's husband.

A fast check of the situation and the man thanked Valerie for her assistance and said he would take his wife immediately to Etobicoke General. But suddenly she started to plead for oxygen, and the man instead sought directions to the nearest fire department.

Without a thought Valerie jumped back in her car and shouted follow me, and led them to the Malton Fire Station.

There, the girls waited 25 minutes while the woman received treatment. Soon an ambulance arrived and took the patient to Etobicoke General where her condition was diagnosed as a heart attack.

The couple had just been passing through at the time and in all the excitement the girls never learned their names. So far no letter of thanks or reward has been forthcoming, but that doesn't bother Valerie any — she doesn't expect it.

"It was my pleasure to have been able to help them," she told The Pilot.

We're sure, that Malton residents everywhere are proud of these three girls.

Valerie is a Gr. 11 student at Westwood Secondary School and Maureen attends Humber College.

Guy LaFleur And Joe "Who"

Joe Clark, the National Conservative Party Leader made his first official visit to Mississauga last Thursday and broke 'em up with the following hockey anecdote.

The story was contrary to the introductory remarks by former Mississauga MP Don Blenkarn, that tried to dissuade an earlier appendage of Mr. Clark as Joe "who."

He related how he attended a NHL game at the Montreal Forum between Canadiens and Kansas City Scouts, near the end of the past regular season. After the game Canadiens Public Relations officer and former hockey great Jean Beliveau directed Mr. Clark on a tour of the host team's dressing room.

That night Guy LaFleur had scored his 50 and 51 goals of the season and Mr. Clark was quick to congratulate him. After striking up a lengthy conversation in French, with the super star, Mr. Clark said he was almost ready to offer La Fleur his party's candidacy in the riding of Hull.

However, with their exciting discourse completed, Mr. Clark moved on down the line and suddenly learned that the legend of Joe "who" lived on. For out of the corner of his ear, in the noisy dressing room, Mr. Clark caught a remark in French by LaFleur who had just turned to a bench mate and asked: "Who was that guy, anyway?"

Mr. Clark said the moral of the story was that the first thing you have to learn as a party leader, "is humility" — and to avoid future hockey invitations. In fact, the Conservative Leader had turned down an invite to last Thursday's playoff game at Maple Leaf Gardens, so he could attend the Mississauga meeting.

The small Square One auditorium was overflowing with Tory supporters who crowded every seat in the hall, sat on the floor in the aisles, and stood 10 rows deep in the exits.

In an obvious buoyant mood and radiating confidence, Mr. Clark was greeted officially by Conservative MPPs from Mississauga North, Terry Jones; Mississauga East, Bud Gregory; and Mississauga South, Harold Kennedy.

Let's Get Back Where We Belong

The pressure exerted on all levels of government to restrain spending can only serve to benefit us all, but cut-backs and less service isn't the only solution.

Caledon could be in deep trouble in regards to educational facilities if the province takes a firm stand on spending, which seems to be the case. The proposal for a high school in Bolton is currently tied up in bureaucracy and whether it will be accepted at all, by the Ministry of Education, is questionable.

The provincial government is in a frightening situation, especially for those elected officials, whose aim is to please their constituents. On one hand they are faced with our economic difficulties which have demanded that everyone stop spending. On the other hand they are faced with having to plan for massive increases in population, especially in the Region of Peel. Then, on the only foot that is above ground (the other one being in the grave), they are faced with having to supply money in order to maintain a healthy level of services to accommodate the new population. The dilemma is enough to cause even "wild Bill" to lose his hair. Heaven forbid that he should begin to resemble "dear Pierre."

Here is the result of the problem. People in Caledon and other areas in Peel say, hey, we're going to have more people living here. We're going to need more schools to relieve the burden that is quickly becoming an overburden. The province says we are in a planned high growth area so they must be planning on helping us out. Oh oh! You mean they're not going to help us out? Well, the Ministry of Education, a provincial government department, because of the restraint program has changed their method of dealing with school construction proposals. They might be simply delaying the inevitable.

Then what would we do about educating the children? I mean we're not making too many friends in Dufferin County so what if they decide that they don't want our 800 or so secondary school students who are now bussed into Orangeville?

Don't fear I say, your friendly but slightly crazy editor is here to save you. Maybe too late, but maybe not. The solution, you ask with bated breath? Why not build a school. No, not some wild and wonderful structure that costs millions and provides all the latest in modern convenience. Why not build ten schools. Sure, think how much fun it will be. We'll get a bunch of people together, we'll buy some wood, and we'll build us a school or ten.

Can you imagine the looks on the faces of the members of the Peel Board of Education, or the provincial boys whose ulcers have taken over their bodies, or our local councillors?

Oh, we'll make certain that our schools will speak past all the rules and regulations that govern what such a structure will look like, and cost. We'll fight like hell to get total approval because we want to. I mean why live in Caledon if we have to put up with all the crap that goes on in the big city?

Most important of all can you imagine what we could do for the kids. Sure we'll have trouble with space, but we'll hire the best damn teachers around to make up for that problem. No, we won't have a gymnasium, or an extensive library structure, or a swimming pool, but we'll have the good, old outdoors, and we'll have the best selection of books even if they have to be kept in the back seat of my old jalopy, and after all, we've already got a recreational complex at Mayfield. So we have to share space. Maybe it would teach us how to get along with people again.

The solution is right in front of our faces, but maybe we don't want to work together like a real community should. Maybe our kids won't want to go to a school that is warm, human, and is filled with people who are enthusiastic, exciting, and true teachers and learners. Maybe you will just laugh and say, this guy is crazy, he wants to set us back a hundred years.

You cynics have assumed we've gone forward. If a hundred years ago was better then don't walk, run, because you won't catch me as I land in the school that the community built.

Letters To The Editor Cable T.V. Ripoff...

After sitting down in front of my television on Sunday April 25 fully expecting to watch the crucial 7th game between Toronto & Philadelphia, the cable transmission failed before the first period was even completed and went off and on throughout the whole game. All the Malton residents (east of Goreway need is a drop of rain, a gust of wind, or a flash of lightning and the cable goes out). I think that the company should show Malton residents what they are doing to correct the terrible service and I also think that we should get a rebate for the number of hours for which we have no service and are paying very highly for.

I would also like to know why we have no choice as to which cable company we

"Flyers" Ed. Wrong—Dobkin Will Win...

With regard to your Editorial about the violence in hockey, I must disagree that "the Flyers must go". Surely you are wrong to label any one single team for the style of hockey we see today.

The fact is that other areas and teams have much worse violence, and the Flyers are not the villains of the day. As to, Attorney General McMurtry, I agree with Judge Kenneth Langdon of Peel County Court, who is reported to have said: "if the Attorney-General stopped chasing professional gladiators, and built some courtrooms, we shouldn't have this situation all day, every day." The fact is Mr. McMurtry is playing politics and not really attacking the problems in the Courts, which is the lack of court facilities. I noted the District Attorney of Philadelphia has said that "Mr. McMurtry

"A Touch Misleading..."

A touch misleading Mr. Asquith — page 10 Peel Reporter of April 22, column headed "Will there be more students".

You should re-read the Toronto Centred Region Plan as it states (Page 15 item 4 — Development Policy) "Within the Commutershed (zone 2) adopt a policy of retaining land as much as possible for recreation and agriculture and open space used. This policy would concentrate limited growth mainly within existing communities".

Zone 2 referred to above, covers the Town of Caledon, whereas Zone 1, I believe, encompasses the Towns of Brampton and Mississauga all of which are located in the Region of Peel.

The point you ask? The T.C.R. Plan as it applies to the Town of Caledon does not designate our community as some might have gathered from your article as "a high growth area". Take note Richard (Whitehead).

J. Alexander

I am sure after Thursday April 15 and on Sunday, April 25 when cable went out during two very important hockey games there are a lot of residents who will cancel their service. I am one, who will be going back on regular antennae effective the end of May rather than put up with this disgusting service which has been interrupted too numerous times to count.

I think cable T.V. is the biggest ripoff going and I think that controls should be set up to make sure cable companies, especially Rogers, give the customer the service they are paying for.

More Letters... "Hangout Solution?"...

Re: Your article on the problem of the young people that hang out in the Westwood Mall.

As a resident of Malton I am concerned about this problem, not only because it looks bad at the Mall, but; moreover, because it looks bad on the young people themselves. I have an idea that might possibly be a solution, as this idea worked quite well in another area of Mississauga. The idea is a Drop-In Centre but, not one that has been handed to the kids on a silver platter, rather one that they themselves must work for and as a result would take some pride in.

This of course would require the co-operation of some of the adults in the community. If I can be of any assistance I would be only too glad to help. I hope that perhaps this idea will light a spark somewhere, and give the kids a chance to prove themselves as contributing members of the community.

Yours Sincerely,
Deborah J. Gowler

Today's Health

By David Woods

David Woods

Thanks to the work of such scientists as Jenner in smallpox, Pasteur in rabies and Salk with polio, we now have the means to stave off these and other once widespread diseases.

The means is called immunization and what it involves is introducing a disease agent in a harmless state to a healthy patient. The patient's defences mobilize to deal with the disease — and provide immunity against the real version of it.

In Canada, there's been no reported case of smallpox for the past 25 years; and the thousand or so cases of polio we used to see each year in the 1950s have now been whittled down to about four cases in the last decade.

Diphtheria, polio, and tetanus — all quite common at one time — have been largely eradicated. But without immunization, any of them can still strike again.

What's happened, though, is not that anyone's found a cure for these diseases, or that they've disappeared forever; rather, we've simply found a very effective mechanism for protecting each individual person from getting them.

Perhaps it's the belief that the diseases we've mentioned have somehow been wiped out totally that has led to some complacency among Canadians about immunization. For example, a recent survey of children entering school in Ontario showed that many of them had not been protected against preventable diseases including measles which, though generally considered a minor aggravation, can have serious complications.

There's really no excuse not to ensure that you and your family seek proper protection. Community-wide immunization programs are provided by your local medical officer of health. Immunization is covered by the Ontario Health Insurance Plan. It's also available from your family doctor. Since there are now combined injections immunizing against three or four diseases, it doesn't have to turn you into a pin cushion — or take up much time.

The point is, unless we take advantage of the preventive measures those scientists worked to give us, the diseases we thought we could forget about might easily return.

It is clearly the responsibility of the individual and parents to keep immunization up to date. You can find out more about the when and where of immunization by contacting your local medical officer of health or writing to the Health Resource Centre, Communications Branch, Ontario Ministry of Health, Hepburn Block, Queen's Park, Toronto, Ontario, M7A 1S2, for the pamphlet Immunization is Your Responsibility.

A Peel Regional Police Constable leans in to comfort a passenger of a car involved in a parking lot accident at a Kentucky Fried Chicken outlet in Malton on Saturday. Edward Orlita of Dunedin Rd. in Oakville and his wife, Patricia, 54, were peacefully eating their lunch in the store parking lot when, according to police, a catering truck, driven by Antonio Marziano, 17, of Lancaster Ave., in Malton, swung backwards out of a parking spot and banged into the side of the Orlita's '69 Cadillac. The impact shattered the car window on the passenger side. Mrs. Orlita was taken to Peel Memorial Hospital, slightly injured. Police are continuing their investigation into the mishap.

Soccer Sponsors Needed

Would you, a local merchant or company, be willing to sponsor a Minor Soccer team? At a cost of $150.00 per season, it is a relatively cheap means of advertising your name or product.

In order to keep the registration costs down, (we are one of the least expensive clubs in Mississauga) we do need more sponsors. We have a total of 25 teams. 16 of these are already sponsored, it is our aim to have a sponsor for every team this year. This means acquiring another 9 sponsors. So, if you would like to give a 14-boy team the chance to play Soccer, and show yourselves as Community-minded to the people of Malton, please contact Mr. Frank Pickett at 678-2374.

Major Bantam and Junior "B" players needed

We are looking for boys in the 15-17 yr. old age group. Those born in 1960, 1959 and 1958. If we cannot find enough players to make up a team, plans for representing Malton in the Mississauga league will have to be abandoned. Don't leave it until just before the season starts, we need the registrations now! Please contact Mrs. Kellmann at 7360 Manion Rd., Tel. 677-9891.

Michael Williamson Caledon's Chief Librarian

By Alex Matheson

The Town of Caledon got its first chief librarian April 1st, the same day it got its addition to the Bolton branch.

Michael Williamson comes to Caledon from two years service with the Parliament Branch of the Toronto Public Libraries System and three months as supervisor of mobile libraries in Toronto.

Williamson has about six years experience working in various capacities in libraries. He took a two years masters program in library science at the University of British Columbia following a bachelor's degree.

He was motivated in the direction of library work by an interest in books and passing them on to other people.

He sees a greater need for children's programs in Caledon's libraries especially during the summer months. He intends to emphasize arts and crafts, puppet shows, theatre groups, and story telling.

Story telling involves the memorization and retelling of the story by the teller with dramatic emphasis and pantomime to heighten the impact. Story telling is almost an art in itself, said Williamson.

Along with these he hopes to increase the use of other media, particularly movies which are popular with children.

Williamson will also be responsible for ordering new books. This is based on requests by patrons, best seller lists, the Book Review Journal, The Publisher's Weekly, the CORL list of reviews and publisher's catalogues. Last year Caledon acquired 5,750 new volumes.

Currently Williamson is working out of a desk in the basement of the Bolton branch, but is scheduled to move into the new municipal office. Most of Williamson's time will be spent in the field as he visits the six library branches in Caledon.

Snow, Snow, Snow

Could you believe the sight which you beheld on Sunday morning? I couldn't — not by a long sight. After our trip to the snow belt of Vermont and arriving home in eighty degree weather and seeing the daffodils in full bloom, the dogs tooth violets bordering the pond a glorious mass of gold, and the equally beautiful dark purple scented violets covering a bank in the woods. I thought "this time we are going to escape that last violent storm nature flung at us last April." How wrong I was! This little dandy not only choked our driveway, killed our flowers, bewildered the birds (they huddled together in the feeder as though they could not believe what they saw) but it closed highways, sent cars in the ditch and menaced the fruit crop in Niagara. At this time of writing there are serious doubts about the apple crop and maybe some of the other fruit trees. What kind of joke is nature playing on us anyway?

We spent Sunday digging ourselves out of the soggy, heavy mass and singing "I'm dreaming of a White Christmas" in bitter tones. I tried to salvage a few sad blossoms outside the back door but they were frozen solid and drooped piteously in the vases of water they were put in to revive. And wouldn't you know that just the day before we took off the storm doors and the snow tires? Diabolical, that's what it was! I was so put out with the whole thing I decided to

Living In The Country

You can't just turn the key and tell the janitor you'll be back in a few weeks. In the country you have to get a house-sitter, notify the police, send the dog to the kennels if the house-sitter can't cope, and make sure everything is under control.

We're lucky to have friends to house-sit for us. As friends of over forty years she can find her way with my peculiar housekeeping system. She loves the swimming pool and he belongs to a trout club nearby and can go fishing.

The shocker came when we realized that the tickets to go west to our grand-niece's wedding would cost more than the air fare we paid for our first trip to Europe. We're booked into a hotel but I was so shocked I didn't even ask what the hotel rates were. One can only bear so much.

I was delighted to have a call from Mrs. Sandy Nicholson re the group meeting at James Bolton School, kkyBolton, on Tuesday May 4th. All our students who have visited in the Arctic will be represented.

These students have been to three places in Quebec, two edging on Hudson Bay, Great Whale River in 1970 and Povungnituk in 1972. Both flat tundra country. Then in 1974 they rounded the tip of Quebec to Sugluk, on Hudson Strait, where they were surrounded by mountains. This year they went inside the Arctic circle to Pangnirtung on Baffin Island at Cumberland Strait.

All I have talked to enjoyed whatever trip they were on and were eager to go back.

The meeting on May 4th at 8 p.m. will be a splendid time to learn about our northland through the eyes of the future generation. I didn't realize what beauty and majesty there is. Somehow one imagines the north as frozen, cold and monotonous regions of snow and ice. It isn't. There are mountains as in Switzerland or our very own Rockies, fjords as in Norway, and when the flowers bloom they are said to be spectacular.

Films taken by the various groups will be shown and there will be the draw for the Inuit carving.

Please try to be there, it's free. Tuesday May 4th, 8 p.m., James Bolton School, Bolton.

I had a friend who went to Aklavik as a bride, this was over forty years ago and I wish I'd kept her letters, for contrast. In the winter she was kept busy cleaning the chimneys of the oil lamps, as during the winter it's night for most of the twenty-four hours with a sort of semi-twilight part-time. She would see her husband off by plane to go on Patrol duty with the R.C.M.P. and not know when he'd be back again.

There was plenty to keep her busy as she had a baby and forty years ago there were no Pampers, just plain old diapers. No electricity, so the washing was done in a gasoline powered machine, then hung out where it froze and brought-in stiff-as-a-board to thaw inside.

All provisions came into Aklavik by boat and the navigation season was short. The boat arrived in when Beverly was three and she was told she would have a fresh egg as the decks were covered with chickens. She was most disappointed, said it had no taste, she preferred the preserved variety. Another year, when the boat was late the whole family lived on sardines and rice for several weeks.

When Mary took Beverly to the doctor, after she was back in civilization, he was most impressed with her excellent health and wanted to know her diet. He was dumbfounded that she had no orange juice or fresh vegetables and fruit and a bit non-plussed by the rice and sardines, as well as most of the things she had eaten.

With the D.E.W. line in 1950 things in our northland have forged ahead and though there is much to be done, we are not as far behind the other northern countries as we once were.

When the Inuit abandoned nomadic life for living in communities they began to catch the whiteman's diseases. The outsiders, like us, are called kabloona and they have no immunity to our common diseases.

The first concern is to pipe good water in and the waste out. This is pretty tough in a land of permafrost. However they are coping and although the results are not yet perfect, perhaps they soon may be.

Then there is housing. The first housing programme was begun in 1956 when twelve thousand prefabricated one-room houses, size 12 by 24 ft. were erected. There have been several programmes since, each an improvement on the last one. Initial outlays and operating costs are partly subsidized by the government. In about twenty years the Inuit have moved from dog team to jet planes and from seal oil lamps to electric generators.

Now, they enjoy some of the amenities of life, electric stoves, refrigerators, radios and coloured T.V.

Someday I hope that I will be able to pay a visit to the Inuit of Canada's far north.

Anyone who wants a bargain, and don't we all?, come to the St. James Ladies slightly used clothing sale on May 1st. When everyone is affluent and wants to throw out the old and bring in the new there should be some good bargains.

Should The Drinking Age Be Raised? By Cathy Watson—Photos By Dave Fitzgerald

A subject of no little concern to many people is the proposed raising of the drinking age. In order to obtain a sampling of opinions concerning this topic, this week I asked several Mayfield students just what they thought of the measure. These were the replies:

Mary-Ellen Ramsay, 18: If, by the age of eighteen you are old enough to be treated like an adult in every other aspect of life — you vote, you are treated by the law as an adult — then you should be able to decide for yourself whether or not to drink.

Sina Rocca, 18: People under eighteen already drink, so one more year isn't going to stop many. If they wish to insure that no minors drink, bars should always request I.D. and perhaps drivers' licenses should have pictures on them.

Susan Pugsley, 17: I don't think that raising the drinking age to nineteen will help. They should either put it all the way up to twenty-one or leave it at eighteen. Also, I don't think they should be able to take away the privilege from those already eighteen.

Steve Watson, 20: They can't raise the drinking age. They can't take rights away from people without causing a lot of hassles.

John Tsourounis, 18: I think that the drinking age should be raised progressively one year per year, until it reaches twenty-one. This would curb the tendencies towards alcoholism among the younger generation.

Well, there you have it. Some are for it, some against. Now I would like to take the liberty of expressing my views, as this topic is a pet peeve of mine. They can't do it. I'm not saying that just because of myself, because it won't affect me at all if they raise it one year at a time — I'm "safe". I'm saying that because of the people that it will affect. No matter how they do it, the government will inevitably infringe upon the rights of some people. At some point they would have to draw the line and say "O.K. You can drink, but you can't." Personally, I can't see how the government has the right to take the franchise away from someone. It's un-Canadian. We can't let them play give-and-take with our rights.

Milk Or No Milk—By Lorna H. Little

If there is a surplus of milk in this country, why is the price to the consumer going up?

Why is the government discouraging the dairy farmer from producing more milk?

Why don't the farmers produce more and more so that the consumer will pay less and less?

Why does the public expect cheap food? Why does the consumer expect the farmer to over produce in order to create surpluses and keep the market price low?

Does he ask this of any other industry? Does he expect General Motors to produce more and more cars in order to make it possible to sell the product at a lower price? Somehow, the public seems to understand the naivety of such a request when it comes to products other than food. They understand that when the cost of raw materials and of labour increase, then the price we are required to pay for the end product must go up to cover these rises.

Why does that same theory not apply for milk?

When the farmer must pay more for machinery, fertilizer, seed, spray and labour, then it only stands to reason that he too, must have more for the food he produces, does it not?

Farming, too, is a business; and how is a man to stay in business if he cannot recoup his cost of production? Surely producing more and more is not the answer! We have lived so long with big ideas that we seem to have adopted the principle that it's volume that counts in any situation. If you are losing 2 cents on every quart of milk you produce, the only thing you can improve by producing more is the speed at which you are going broke. Surpluses in the long run can never result in lower prices to the consumer! And then the consumer asks, "Why don't we get any of that surplus milk powder Canada is shipping to developing countries?" If the Dairy Industry offered the most fortunate people in the world products at below cost prices, not only would we be depriving the needy, but we would be destroying the market we must have in order to survive. That surplus powdered milk is a burden to the dairy farmer. He must contribute towards the storage costs of it from a reduced pay cheque.

Since there is a surplus of milk in the country, the Canadian Dairy Council is taking steps to discourage production. Instead of paying top price for 80 to 85 per cent of his allotted quota, as was the case, the dairy farmer is now asked to accept that payment on 60 per cent of the quota. You can imagine what that does to his monthly pay cheque.

How many workers in this country today are accepting lower wages? How many are asked (out of that slimmer pay packet) to contribute towards storage of surplus product?

You may be asked to pay more for your milk, but you can rest assured the dairy farmer is getting LESS.

Mayfield Says —Canada Worth Supporting

Don McNeil, teacher and driving force behind Mayfield Secondary's Canada Day, said, "the Canada Day idea originated in Port Colbourne and since I have a keen interest in Canadian events and personalities I felt that Canada was worth supporting here at Mayfield."

The Canada Day extravaganza took place Wednesday, April 21, and ran from morning until late afternoon. Stephen Lewis, Ontario's NDP leader, opened the event by speaking to a full auditorium. Following Mr. Lewis was a series of approximately 40 separate seminars intended to "afford the students an opportunity to see Canada outside of the classroom," Don said.

Ross Milne, Caledon's MP, spoke about Federal politics. Bruce Pallett and Dr. Page spoke about Canada from the viewpoint of the Committee for an Independent Canada. Jim Gilpin of the Snelgrove Detachment of the OPP spoke on provincial crime, the Regional police force and the RCMP were also present, the History of Blues was discussed by Ken and Chris Whitely, Pat Byrne and Clyde Rose flew in from Newfoundland to discuss the literature and music of that beautiful province, Poets', Novelists', and Playwrights' workshops were held, Paul Brodie and his saxophone Quartet performed in the music room, hockey and football were included, as was Olympics '76 discussed by Dave Steen local newspaper writer and author, an insight into Canada's Indian Communities was provided by Sylvia Maracle and Doug Prine, Eskimo crafts by Mrs. B. Reid, forestry by Mr. J. Grimshaw, Mining by Mr. J. Ridout. and on and on. As Don McNeil said, "it was one of those days when Mayfield was really used as an enlightening resource for the entire community."

Don is a resident of Palgrave and speaks very adamantly about Canada. He is a man of limitless energy and enthusiasm and would settle for nothing but the best, and that's exactly what he made the Mayfield

Canada Day. Being somewhat humble he said, "I had total co-operation and assistance from other staff members, students, administration, and of course the speakers. I'm tired of Canada being manipulated by foreign ideals, and was happy to be able to take part in this event."

After six months of hard work by Don and the others Mayfield's Canada Day was marred by only one problem: Absenteeism. A large majority of Mayfield students took part in the event and greatly appreciated and benefitted from it, but some also took the opportunity to skip school. A day away from school may be a necessity, but Canada Day was not the day to choose. Those who missed it missed a tremendous learning opportunity, and we all know that those who don't want to learn can't be helped.

A Unique Idea For Caledon-A Resort Motel For Dogs

Just one mile north of the Brampton Airport on the first line west a resort motel and training academy for dogs has been proposed by Mr. Frank Gerace, a 26 year old who looks for nothing but the best.

The proposal, Sun Valley Kennels, is a rather unique idea in the dog industry mainly because of Mr. Gerace's ideas of what a dog is and a kennel should be. He said, "it has been said that a dog is man's best friend, in the same token a man can be a dog's best friend, and should be treated with the same dignity and respect afforded any friend."

The kennel, which is scheduled to be ready for business on July 1 with all phases completed by August 1, is impressive. It will be completely air-conditioned and heated, will include stereo music throughout and television in order to provide a home atmosphere, there will be 60 indoor and outdoor runs, bathing tubs and grooming tables, a showroom, a spacious air-conditioned lobby and coffee bar, an indoor training area, an outdoor training area, a 24 hour watch will be incorporated by way of close circuit television which will be beamed to the owner's living quarters in the top portion of the structure, licensed trainers will be on staff as well as a veterinarian, and the list continues.

Mr. Gerace calls the kennel a resort motel and refers to the dogs as guests. When I asked him about this he answered, "my approach is intended to inform the owner that his/her dog is the guest and Sun Valley the host. The dogs will be awarded every courtesy that any paying customer is entitled to, and not considered as just some animal to be thrown into a cage."

If you think the structure is impressive wait until you hear about the services Mr. Gerace intends to incorporate. As was mentioned a veterinarian and licensed trainers will be on staff, the dogs will be exercised daily by professional handlers, a free flea dip, bath, and worm check will be automatic upon boarding, meals will be scientifically balanced to suit each dog's needs, grooming facilities will be available, a boutique is planned to provide only the best in dog supplies, every suite will be steam cleaned and disinfected before occupancy, and a medical check will be given for every dog with the stern rule that no ill or diseased animal will be accepted.

I asked Frank why such extravagance? He answered simply. "Sun Valley is intended to provide a great deal of care."

A few local residents opposed Mr. Gerace's proposal and he told me that the people really didn't have anything to worry about. "The structure is completely enclosed including a fence around the entire property, the kennel will be completely and regularly disinfected so there will be no odor problem, and I feel that a properly run kennel can be a real benefit to the community."

How can Sun Valley be of benefit I asked?

He said, "a kennel, even for those who don't own a dog, can be a benefit because it assures the community that there will be less strays, it promotes better protection when it comes to medical safety, and it provides better dog control since there will undoubtedly be more properly trained dogs."

Frank Gerace has been training dogs since he was 12 years old when he won his first obedience trial with the Oshawa Obedience Association. He owned and operated a training school for dogs in Florida called the K-9 Academy. He is married and has one daughter named Oner who is three years old. He informed me that he would be hiring local people who are qualified, but also include part and full time students who were interested. He said that students wouldn't be able to apply however, until the structure is completed. Mr. Gerace can be contacted for further information by calling 881-5148 in Thornhill.

My final question was; why did he choose Caledon to build his resort motel and training academy for dogs?

He said, "The natural beauty of the environment here has obviously been preserved which indicated that the people must be warm, understanding, and concerned, which in fact, I have found to be true."

Though he would hate me for mentioning it, since he believes that his kennel must stand on it's own merits, I was impressed by this young 26 year old who is taking a new and unique approach to boarding and training dogs. As he said, "all a dog needs is a little TLC (tender loving care.)"

Profiles In Caledon

"The Community Entertainers Is My Life"

Dorothy Addison is the current director of the Bolton Community Entertainers which, according to Dorothy, is a "group of people who have come together to sing just for the love of singing."

Dorothy, like so many people I have met in Caledon was all to humble. I had an advantage this time however, as Dorothy's husband, Bill, was nearby to add the necessary bolstering. So let's talk about Dorothy and The Bolton Community Entertainers.

Twenty-five years ago a series of personal circumstances brought Dorothy and her husband to Albion from the big city of Toronto. They decided to alter their life styles so they dabbled in farming and seriously developed an interest in horses, which Bill said, "we could ride in the fields or even on the old, gravel road known as Hwy. 50."

At the age of 17, I found out through Bill's assistance, Dorothy was a professional soloist performing in many Churches in Toronto. She was also a member of a girls quartet that sang before audiences in the tiny hotel called the Royal York. Dorothy told me that one of her greatest thrills was when she was an accompanist for various groups that entertained the troops during the war. She once took part in entertaining 8,000 soldiers at a manning depot in the Coliseum at the Canadian National Exhibition the day before the men were shipped over seas. She said, "there was a strange feeling of sadness during that performance."

Dorothy also had the distinction of singing the part of the witch in Hansel and Gretel in the first production of the Conservatory Opera Company under the late Sir Earnest MacMillan, now known as the Canadian Opera.

In 1953 the Bolton Community Entertainers began as a ladies chorus from the friendship circle of the United Church. In 1954, Bill added that "Bolton had a population of almost 650 people at this time," three church choirs united to sing Stainer's "Crucifixion."

Dorothy said, "we still have some people who were with us at the start, Stewart Rutherford, Millie McKenzie, Roberta Parker, Bill and myself of course, and up until a few years ago Sadie Small was still the pianist."

Among the accolades of the Community Entertainers is the fact that they have won many medals at music festivals, they've discovered and cultivated new talent, of course they have entertained many people having performed not only in Bolton but in Orangeville, Toronto, Brampton, Burlington, and all over Caledon, and they even performed on television last year at channel 79's studios. But most of all Dorothy says with a wide smile on her face, "my greatest thrill is to take a shy, retiring person who doesn't think he can sing, and gradually teach him so he can eventually sing solo. This is where you really feel the rewards."

Another impressive aspect of the group is the age range: Tom Holtby is 92 years old and the eldest member, and Lynn Hickey is 14 years old the youngest member.

Again, with Bill's help, I managed to learn that Dorothy also writes and arranges many original productions. The performance, "Letters from Abroad" incorporated a trip Dorothy took to Europe into a cohesive musical. "Winter Song" came about as simply a feeling Dorothy had. During the celebrations of Bolton's Centennial Dorothy created a beautiful musical entitled, "Diary 1872-1972."

Always interested, I asked Dorothy what she thought of Bolton today? She answered, "I think Bolton has lost its identity as it has grown larger, but maybe, eventually that's for the better."

Dorothy forced me to join Bill and her in lunch (well, maybe not forced) and we chatted about various things including some of the wood carving crafts that Bill does, but we didn't stray for too long away from the Community Entertainers. She was able to mention that the group will be signing a "Spring Pot Pourri" Monday and Tuesday, May 3rd and 4th. After all as Dorothy put it, "the Bolton Community Entertainers is my life."

Ken Asquith

Bolton Community Entertainers

On Monday May 3rd and Tuesday May 4th, Bolton Community Entertainers are presenting their spring show. "Pot Pourri", a variety programme featuring: "The White Elk after the Derby"; an English pub scene; old English songs and characters; two scenes from "Mary Poppins" with Mary and a group of children; excerpts from Gilbert and Sullivan-comedy here; and a scene from Bizet's "Carmen". Part 5 will feature choral numbers including the Entertainers and current hit, "The Song of the Slaves".

This is the twenty-third season for the Entertainers — a unique group in that no voice test is required — just the desire to sing in congenial company. We do not aspire to be of professional calibre — just a good amateur group singing for our own pleasure, and surely, along the way giving pleasure to others.

Historical Sites Discussed At Public Meeting

Ted Cooke, regional community resource services planner, had some interesting points to discuss at public meeting on Wednesday.

The staff at the Region of Peel's planning department has begun the public participation portion of the Regional Official Plan. On Wednesday, April 21 a meeting was held to discuss the "Issues and Concerns" regarding Historic Sites in Peel.

Heather Broadbent, an executive member of the Albion-Bolton Historic Society, attended the meeting said, "it is encouraging to see that the Region is looking at very important issues and is concerned about the public's opinion."

One of the major points brought out by Ted Cooke, the region's community resource planner, is that "the preservation of historical sites and heritage factors is economically viable. The Canadian Tourist Association survey conducted in 1971 confirms the fact that 30 percent of tourist spending is on activities directly related to historic and cultural events."

The economic viability of preserving historic sites may be an unfortunate argument, but in this day and age it is a necessary one. People must make the effort to stand up and fight for whatever they consider to be valuable. Ted expressed his views at the meeting by saying, "people may have a good conscience, sense, and taste, but I submit that these are inadequate weapons when against land disturbance agencies and bulldozers."

Ted continued by saying, "even what looks like a dilapidated row of houses could in affect become an historic asset with a little ingenuity and imagination."

The meeting was held in a crowded library in Streetsville and was attended by many Historic Societies including Peel, Streetsville, and of course, Heather and Rowena Colman of the Albion-Bolton Society.

"The Secretary Bird"

By Kay Raeburn

Caledon's Town Hall Players will end one of their most successful seasons ever with the production of "The Secretary Bird" May 13th, 14th and 15th. So, plan to forsake your gardening endeavours for one evening's relaxing entertainment. You owe it to yourself!

This popular comedy was written by William Douglas Home and enjoyed a long run in British theatre before crossing the Atlantic. "The Secretary Bird" is as English as trifle and just as delectable.

The theme of the play is the breaking up of a solid marriage. The trouble is, of course, the eternal triangle, which in this tale quickly becomes a square. The solution, we think, is one which no marriage counsellor has ever come up with.

Always fortunate in the matter of good directors the Players feel especially lucky in that Moira Lumley is directing this one. (Remember her excellent work in "Barefoot in the Park" about one year ago?)

Mrs. Lumley has had 30 years' experience in acting and directing in amateur and professional theatre, in England, Singapore, Australia and Canada. To announce that she is directing a play is to predict it will be a top-notch performance.

The cast is small in number but impressive in talent. It consists of Christopher Adams, Maureen Wood, Leona Onclun, Jeanne Emmorey and Nigel Wallace, in order of appearance.

The off-stage assistants will be Patrick Douglas, Keith McLean, Sharon Martin, Chris Eady, Helen McArthur, Joan Wilkinson and Jacqueline England. "Versatile" is the word to describe these good people — most of whom are equally at home on-stage.

To be sure of a good seat (or any seat) better arrive at Caledon Old Town Hall well in advance of curtain time, 8:15 p.m. For everything else please see Coming Events.

Bolton Library Addition Opened

By Alex Matheson
Caledon mayor John Clarkson cut the ribbon to officially open the addition to the Bolton Library at 2 p.m. on April 21.

The ceremony was attended by members of the library staff, members of the library board, a representative of the construction company and a representative from the Central Ontario Regional Library system (CORT).

It took only 1½ days to put the addition on the library, said branch librarian Patricia Thomas. The addition arrived in two pieces on April 1st and was in place ready to go the next day.

The addition is similar in design to a portable classroom with the windows arranged differently, said company representative Sid Brown. This is the second library addition the company has installed. The basic structure costs about $13,000, said Brown.

The addition will double the floor space of the library making it possible to house all the books on the main floor. Previously the children's books were in the basement increasing the difficulty of supervision; forcing the staff to run up and down stairs.

The children's books are now in the main section with the adult books in the addition. The basement will be used for storage and recreation, said newly appointed Chief Librarian Michael Williamson.

The facilities had been so cramped, there were feelings of claustrophobia, said Mrs. Williamson who experienced considerable difficulty operating in the office space.

The Bolton branch currently has about 13,500 volumes. In March of this year the circulation was 5,213 volumes.

4-H Club News

By Karen Wilson
During the last month, the 4-H Horse Club has held two meetings, one on Tuesday March 30th and the other on Tuesday April 13th.

At the first meeting we discussed the various gaits of a horse including the Saddlebreds flat-footed walk and rack, we also learned the difference between the trot and the pace. The talk Mr. Cation gave on collection (control and balance) extension, breezing a horse, and the hand gallop was very interesting.

The second meeting started with a review on the previous meeting and then we talked about the following summer events:

A fire safety lesson which will be held in The Farmers Building at Brampton Fairgrounds; our annual judging competition which will be at Mr. Cations Farm; also there will be an all round judging competition where our members will be judging cows, pigs, goats, sheep and crops as well as horses. This last event will be held at the Milton Fairgrounds.

read a book which would make me forget what was going on outside. That book is listed as the best cat book ever written, and I am inclined to agree. It is titled "A Cat in the Window" by Derek Tangye, about a dog lover who met a cat called "Monty" in a room at the Savoy Hotel in London. He was named after General Montgomery, whom the author knew personally, the "Monty" took over the entire household which had never known any pet but dogs for eons. If you want an amusing and light bit of reading, try and find a copy — you won't be sorry. Speaking of cats (sorry, those who are bored at this go on to something else) our two acted abominably during the storm. They screamed to go out and then backed up hissing when they saw the swirling white stuff. "Po" put out one paw, shook it and then ran back into the warm house. They complained on and off all Sunday until we lost our patience and popped them into their wicker basket. When they woke up for supper they still weren't happy so we gave them some catnip but all it did was make them quarrelsome. For the past few weeks they have been roving around the woods looking for mice and moles and suddenly — boom, snow and bordeom!

As Marion Balfour has mentioned in her last column we hope our readers and friends will support our paper now that subscriptions are being offered. After all, many, many of the Caledon folk have had a lot of backing and help from the "Reporter" — most of it in this area where so many events and important developments are happening. We feel that you, our faithful readers should now show how you feel one way or the other. It is awfully easy to sit back and say that you will support the "Reporter" and then forget the whole thing. Without it many people will find that it is more important than they realized.

Factors that Affect Child Learning

The rate at which intellectual growth takes place in children is governed by at least four factors: the rate at which children mature biologically; the information received through language or instruction; the experiences to which they are exposed; and the balance they are able to achieve between new information and previous conceptions.

Competition
Because biological factors effect intellectual growth, so it follows that individual children — even in the same family — will differ in their capacity to learn, just as they differ physically or in terms of personality.

As parents, every effort should be made to encourage children to compete with themselves, rather than with brothers and sisters. Don't make comparisons, but look for the individual strengths of each child. Many a child has given up on learning rather than face the frustration of running an unequal race with a brother or a sister who always seems to do so well.

Although the real world is competitive, it must be appreciated that for anyone to compete they must first develop a degree of self confidence and belief in themselves. Only after a child's feelings of self-worth have been established should they be encouraged to appraise their talents in relationship to the achievements of others.

Motivation
Motivation is a key element in learning, but what motivates one child may not motivate another. Some students work hard for their own pleasure, while others, respond to tangible rewards or even fear of punishment. Proper motivation is essential because without it, learning will not take place.

While most will agree that inner motivation — such as curiosity or self satisfaction — is preferable to a system of rewards or punishment, there are times when a reward encourages a child to finish a task, and thereby experience for the first time the joy of accomplishment.

Conversely, excessive strain, fear and anxiety — may inhibit or prevent learning entirely. This is why it is so important for parents to show that they care about their child's learning without appearing anxious at the same time.

Challenge
Challenge is a necessary motivation for learning, but if the challenge is so great that it is seen as unattainable, the natural tendency is to become frustrated and finally give up. Hence, the best challenges for learning are those that the child sees as being within his grasp.

Adult Perspective

How you define learning will, to a great extent, reflect in your attitudes towards life and people. This in turn will affect your expectations of the school and how and what should be taught. If you see man as a machine producing goods, you will want a structured curriculum with all the learning tasks laid out. If you see man as a bank in which to deposit knowledge, you will want a concentration on facts. If you see man as an animal that needs training, you will want the teacher — like the lion tamer — to train your child to be subservient. If however, you see man as a thinking being, you will want the school to encourage independent thinking and problem solving methods.

Entertainment Amateurs vs. Playoffs At Leaky Tap

I think we'll just call it a draw! At least that's the most diplomatic verdict one could issue following last Thursday's battle between the Avion Motor Hotel's Amateur Hour show and the crucial sixth game of the Toronto-Philadelphia playoff series.

The battle ground for this unlikely contest was the Leaky Tap Lounge — and what an exciting evening it was.

With the game showing live on the bar's color T.V., half the patrons were tuned in to the play-by-play while the other half tried to concentrate on an excellent Amateur Hour show.

And one might say that the winners, The Young & Gifted, were as hot this night as Darryl Sittler was in scoring five times at Maple Leaf Gardens.

This black trio featured their funky style with "The Funky Stuff" and "Loneliness". Their performance was strong enough to land them a shot in tonight's Amateur Hour finale, for the present series.

Second place went to that charming young lady from Acapulco, Mexico, Margueretta Landry, for "Aba Nagila" and "Everybody Is Talking About Me". We learned afterwards that Margueretta has been in Toronto for three years and makes her home in Uxbridge, Ontario.

And for awhile there we're sure Margueretta wished there was a bull fight on the screen instead of a hockey game, for right in the middle of her opening number the Leafs scored their sixth goal of the evening which touched off a thunderous ovation that reverberated about Leaky Tap. However, all's fair in love, war — and playoff action.

But even the Leafs tried to keep things fair for the Amateurs, as they came right back and scored in the middle of The Young & Gifted set, resulting again in another noise eruption from the audience.

The hockey antics on the screen also overshadowed a cameo performance by Pam Anderson, who sang "For The Good Times" by Ray Price and "A Cowboy Sweetheart", a yodelling number. It was the latter part that may have been her downfall.

A guest vocalist and guitarist rounded out the evening. Dennis Chalmers warbled "Blue Suede Shoes" and "Proud Mary".

So, remember the finals are on tonight at Leaky Tap, show time approximately 9:45 p.m. Oh, by the way, the hockey game tonight will feature the New York Islanders vs the Montreal Canadiens, also at Leaky Tap. Good luck to the amateurs, and good luck to the Canadiens.

owned tracts of land which spans some 200 miles from Trenton to just north of Milton. It enters Caledon near Belfountain in the west and stretches all the way across, along number ten sideroad, circles in the old township of Albion and then exits near Mount Wolfe. It is intended to be a multi-use Trail for equestrian riders, trail riders, hikers, and is defined as an environmental and recreational corridor. The Ontario Trail Riders Association has been concerned about the preservation of the Great Pine Ridge Trail for many years. You can imagine the number of municipalities, and therefore, complications the Association must deal with in regards to this trail.

Mr. Doug Reddington, planning consultant for Caledon's Draft Official Plan, told us that the Great Pine Ridge Trail is not included in the planning process at this point. He said, "there are many aspects of an Official Plan that enter at a later stage. The Bruce Trail for instance, or the financial impact study is not yet included in the text." He added, "the planners at the Region of Peel are looking at this trail."

Mr. N.E. Davidson, land use planner at the region, was kind enough to take the time and explain that they are giving the trail their consideration. He showed me maps that clearly define where the trail is located and also mentioned that the Trail Riders Association has sent a brief to the Region for consideration.

This issue, at first glance, may appear to be of concern to a small, specific interest group, but as we all know there is a great interest in horses and equestrian trails in Caledon. The Ontario Trail Riders Association has members from all over Ontario, there is currently an Ontario Trails Council that has been employed by the government to study and make recommendations to the province, and of course, trails like the Great Pine Ridge are for multi-use purposes meaning that all types of people are involved.

The Council urges the public to present their views to them in writing to the Ontario Trails Council, C-O Parks Planning Branch, Ministry of Culture and Recreation, Queen's Park, Toronto.
